Shameful Complicity: Irish Government KILLS the Arms Embargo Bill!

On Wednesday, Irish government Senators shamefully voted to stop the passage of the Arms Embargo Bill to ban the use of Irish airports and airspace for transferring arms to genocidal Israel.

They voted it down despite the Bill passing Committee Stage and accepting amendments to strengthen it.

They voted it down without any substantial debate on the issue.

They voted it down knowing that, in the two years since the Bill was first introduced, tens of thousands of Palestinians have been killed.

They have killed the Bill in a most cowardly manner and ensured Irish complicity with Israel's genocidal apartheid regime will continue.

We salute Sen Alice Mary Higgins and the Seanad Civic Engagement Group for progressing the motion, all the opposition Senators who voted for the Bill, and the thousands and thousands of people who lobbied the government on this.

Despite this setback, the campaign for a comprehensive arms embargo on Apartheid Israel is not going away.

And to those who voted it down, we will remember you when you and your colleagues come looking for votes, whether in the upcoming by-elections or the next general election – shame!
